

Brighton But Only At Home: The Strange, Half Story of Oscar Garcias Only Season at Brighton and Hove Albion

Brighton But Only At Home is a blog that covered the story of Oscar Garcia Junyents only season in British football as coach of Brighton and Hove Albion Football Club. However, since the author has a young family and is banned on pain of divorce, or worse, broccoli for dinner, from attending away games, it is only HALF the story. While Oscar, Nathan and the lads were slaving away in Wigan or Leicester or Watford (ok, not Watford) I was most likely slaving away over sausages, chips and beans or standing on some Lego. There was the odd dodgy stream, radio commentary and TV game for sure but there were days when I was herded in to a room by the children or crippled by their latest gastric present. I was there for home games though. More or less every one. And when not watching I was scouring social media and message boards for club information, writing posts and approaching random strangers in an attempt to answer the question just when will Oscar say something interesting? This book takes my posts, my fanzine articles and my rants and knits them together in to the chronological story of the very odd 2013/14 season. While some content was up on the blog this book contains a lot of new material to turn it in to a story. Or stories. Stories of an ordinary fan. How DID that Palace defeat feel? Was football really better in the 80s and 90s? What emotions does the January transfer window put you through? What happens when there are seven minutes left of the first half and your son needs a dump? Or when you accidentally drink so much Merlot you listen to the wrong game on the radio? It also includes inside information on why Oscar will not, perhaps, be missed as badly as some feared.

We are happy to provide quality fresh fruits, vegetables, Grass-fed and Finished Beef, Naturally & Humanely raised

Pork, Pastured Chickens, and Cage Free Eggs to Clackamas County sustainably on our small acreage.

We strive to provide vegetables that grow well in our climate ensuring the best tasting local food available. We prefer to grow old-fashioned and rare varieties of vegetables believing that they are the best to offer but do also grow a very select, few varieties of hybrids, but they are counted on one hand! Much of what we grow, we save the seed of every year and re-offer it to members of the Seed Savers Exchange.

We thank all of you, the “locavores”, food enthusiasts, market goers, and home chefs for making our goal of fresh, local, fruits and veggies sustainably a reality.

2015 is off to a great start! We are looking forward to what this year has to offer!

All our efforts are gearing up to get the growing season started...from ordering/starting/transplanting seeds, planning rotation crops for the fields, cleaning the greenhouses and field equipment, and clearing the fields! There is not a dull day here on the farm!

Planning for garden start varieties is in full swing also. This year we will be offering many of our favorite heirlooms, open-pollinated, and hybrid varieties that we have grown for the past 10+ years as well as many new-to-us varieties. We are diligent to not purchase, offer or grow GMO seeds or food.

Our mix of garden starts includes many different varieties of tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, ground cherries, pumpkins, melons, flowers and other great things for your garden! Most, if not all, varieties are tried and true for our Pacific Northwest valley climate. Check out the Garden Start page for a printable list of varieties available. Or go directly to a specific list at our Tomato, Pepper, and Other garden start pages.

We grew over 100 heirloom/open-pollinated Pepper varieties and 125+ varieties of heirloom/open-pollinated Tomatoes in 2014! Not counting the numerous other garden necessities like heirloom flowers, cucumbers, summer and winter squash, herbs, and melons amongst other rare and hard to find vegetables! In 2015 we will continue with the tradition we've started and will be planting and growing almost all the varieties that have been started so that even if you don't buy a plant you have a chance to taste a range of different flavors!
